Minutemen install MacKinnon

In a tradition-marked outdoor ceremony on Sunday afternoon, William MacKinnon of Moore Street was elected and installed as captain of the Wilmington Company of Minutemen.

Outgoing Captain Frank Curley was installed as Lieutenant. The adjutant sergeant is former Captain Bill Meyer. The new company sergeant is Pete Wicks.

Originally formed at Town Meeting on March 6, 1775, the company was reformed in 1968.

The installation ceremony included a reading of the roster of the original company, and of the present company.

During the election, command of the company was turned over to Selectman Jim Banda. The ballot listed one candidate for each of the four offices, and one by one, the men of the company marked their x's and signed the single ballot, using a quill pen.

Representative Jim Miceli presented MacKinnon with a citation from the House of Representatives.

A copy of The Minutemen, an account of the company's doings in 1775 and 1975, was presented to Mrs. Louise Balser of the Wilmington Memorial Library.

Following the installation, the afternoon gathering continued with refreshments served in the company's headquarters.

Who will be the Good Guy?

Do you know someone special? Someone who is so unselfish, so community-minded, that you wish there were some kind of award that could be given?

The Good Guy Committee is now accepting nominations for the 1978 Good Guy. Drop a card to them at P.O. Box 147, Wilmington, Mass. 01887.

The Good Guy award is given annually to a Wilmington resident chosen by the former Good Guys. Last year's Good Guys were Jo O'Neil and Larry Noel. Previous Good Guys were: Frank Sferrazza, Dick Duggan, Marion Boylen, Carl and Hazel Backman, Ray McNamara, Lil Woodside, Ralph Ambrose, and Rocco DePasquale.

A refund

Wilmington's share of the county assessment for courts has been reduced by $40,404.98, according to Rep. Jim Miceli.

He said that the figure represents the town's share of a state refund of its share of county court costs. This refund, he said, had not been deducted from the published county assessment.

The money is deducted on paper, from the county assessment to the town.

Urban crisis program tonight

The Urban Crisis is Wilmington's problem too.

Boston, where many Wilmington residents work, play, learn and send their college bound youngsters to live, is wrestling, like other big cities across the country, with a financial crisis, air pollution, water pollution, solid waste disposal difficulties, high unemployment and housing, transportation and school integration problems.

To help suburbanites achieve a greater understanding of the problems which beset the cultural, medical, educational center at the other end of route 93, the League of Women Voters of Wilmington will present an informational meeting on the Urban Crisis on Wednesday, March 15 at 8 p.m. at the Wilmington Memorial Library Conference Room.

Guest speaker, Dr. Francis Duehay, of Tufts University School of Urban Affairs, will be present to discuss the effect of the urban crisis on the suburbs.

Break

A break at Ski Haus on Lowell Street early on Tuesday resulted in the loss of 15 to 20 down parkas. Officer Joseph Waterhouse reported that the building was secure at 2:50 a.m., but that at 3:30, he found the plate glass front door kicked in.

Miceli to speak at luncheon

Rep. James R. Miceli of Wilmington is to be the guest speaker, on April 4 at a Spring Luncheon, to be held at the Ramada Inn, in Woburn. The luncheon will be hosted by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, and will be for members and guests.

Town Meeting a short one

Wilmington voters made short work of the town warrant Saturday, finishing the annual town meeting in one eight-hour session.

The largest item on the agenda was a $2.75 million water treatment plant. The voters took the advice of the water commissioners and voted for the plant, 137 to 32.

"Water is not going to be cheap anymore" said George Allen, chairman of the Board of Water Commissioners. The treatment plant will be paid for by a bond issue, which will be paid for by a hefty jump in the water rates. The hike will be 55% by homeowners, and 90% for industry.

Other items approved by the voters include a sewage dumping station on Woburn Street, a security system, for the library, and a new running track for the high school.

The town voted down articles on the purchase of the Eden Country Club and the community schools program. One other item that fell to the axe of budget cutting was the town's tree planting program. It had been in the tree department budget for a number of years.

One group that turned out in significant numbers was the high school track team. There is a certain camaraderie that goes with that team, and it emanates from the head track coach, Frank Kelley.

Kelley wanted a new track for the youngsters to compete on. The old track surface had deteriorated to the point where it was closed last year by the superintendent of schools. It just wasn't safe to run on.

Not only did Kelley do a large amount of legwork on the article, gathering support for his article. He took a much larger step.

Kelley and his mother had been living in Waltham for the entire 20 years that he has been teaching in Wilmington. But that track meant so much to him that he bought a house in Wilmington. He and his mother moved in last fall.

The track article came to the floor shortly after the supper break. When the vote was taken, it was unanimous. Kelley had accomplished his goal.

Budget votes

For the most part, the town meeting followed the advice of the Finance Committee on the town budget, a document of 10 pages in the warrant, totaling $14.8 million.

The Town Manager was able to retain three positions on the payroll which originally had been cut by the Finance Committee. The positions, one in the Town and two in the Highway Department, were left in the payroll in order to preserve the town's contract with CETA. In order to comply with the contract, which provides the town with 85 employees at a value of $890,000, the town cannot discontinue any positions. Town Manager Sterling Morris explained that although the money was being appropriated, it would not be spent.

Highway Department Superintendent Bob Palmer successfully defended his account for hot-topping. A Finance Committee attempt to cut out $20,000 failed. The Town Manager told the town meeting that the roads in town were in bad shape. Palmer said that any money not spent on maintenance this year would certainly be spent in repairs later, in greater amounts.

Tree Warden Tom Sullivan did not fare as well with his tree planting program. The Finance Committee had cut $2500 from the Tree Department expense budget. Sullivan's motion to amend the amount back to its original $7100 figure failed.

Dog Officer Joe Balestrieri sought to have his salary raised to allow for a full-time position. His amendment in the amount of $13,500 was voted down overwhelmingly, and he was left with the original salary of $4250.

A $10,000 budget cut was brought about by an amendment from the floor of the town meeting. John Graney proposed that the money be cut from the $200,000 heating budget for the schools. He charged that the schools were overheated. The voters agreed, and the budget was $190,000.

The School Department budget was set up for an elaborate presentation, and passed with little controversy, considering the size: $7,619,782. But once voted, the school budget was brought up in the discussion of the Shawsheen Tech budget.

Shawsheen Tech committee member Frank McLean found himself called on to defend the budget.

Former Tech committeeman Eugene Kritter and Tech Superintendent Dr. Benjamin Wolk both spoke for the budget, and it passed as recommended, at $620,118.

With the budget finished, the next item of business was Article 8, new equipment. The items approved included: four new police cruisers, a 500 gallon brush truck, a 3-4 ton pickup truck for the Fire Department, a dump truck for the Highway Department, and one pickup truck for the Highway Department. The last item, which had been put in as two pickup trucks at $12,000, was voted at $6000 for one truck, on the recommendation of the Finance Committee.

Article 11 was for the acquisition of land for a sewage disposal station. It had no effect on the tax rate, as it will be paid for out of use charges, paid by the towns of Billerica and Tewksbury, and the contractors doing the dumping. The voters approved.

George Allen, chairman of the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners, painted a dry picture for the town, seeking approval of the water treatment plant. He said that the town would not be able to meet the water needs without the plant.

"Our duty is to provide you with sufficient water," Allen said. He said that unless the town built the plant, the people of Wilmington would face total watering bans and increased fire danger in the summer.

A few voters expressed their opposition to the plant, but the vote came in favorably, 137 to 32.

The final article before the supper break was the library security system. A confusing picture of the theft situation evolved. From the figures presented, it was not clear if books were missing or not.

"The book inventory has increased at 4000 a year," said Richard Duggan of the Finance Committee. "If we didn't have thefts, we wouldn't have room for them."

Mrs. Shirley Callan of the Board of Library Trustees clarified the issue. The item passed, and the library had its $28,000 for the system.

In the reconvened evening session, three articles passed very quickly. Article 14 authorized the town to enter into waste disposal contracts. Articles 15 and 16 were for the high school track. Both passed unanimously.

Coach Kelley later remarked "When the applause came after the vote, that was a real thrill."

Kelley's Irish luck, though, did not carry over into the Community Schools article, a project on which Mrs. Barbara Hooper had worked long, hard and hopefully.

Article 17 went down to two defeats. The $20,000 originally asked for by the Community Schools Study Committee was amended to $37,000 by Sterling Morris, who said that janitorial costs would not fit in the $20,000 budget. After the defeat of the higher figure, the $20,000 figure was also voted down.

Looking on

Kelley's crew

Coach Frank Kelley who is sometimes noted for his unorthodox recruiting methods, pulled all the stops in his effort to win a new running track at the town meeting. Outside the meeting, members of the track team passed out handbills on "Track Facts." From left, Carl Borgeson, John MacDonald, Mike Cassidy, Chris Tannian, Joe Murphy and Mark Warren.

Work continued this week at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington despite a picket line at the site. The pickets were from Roofers Union Local 33 of Boston. Their complaint was that the roofing contractor, Max Sontz Co., did not conform to "community standards" in pay and benefits. The roof, though, is almost finished.

COA 'vial of life'

Anita Stinson, of the Council on Aging, reports a program that is gaining throughout the country after having made a successful start in Michigan.

Called the "Vial of Life" it is an attractive measure for senior citizens, and for all persons. One takes a small, empty pill container or vial, and into it puts a piece of paper on which he has written his name, address, age and whom to notify in case of an accident or other emergency.

Doctor, hospital, relative, friend, with phone numbers and addresses of each are also included. Write in any special medical problems, medication, information, allergies, and blood type. Include the name of the medical insurance company. Attach the vial with tape to the upper inside wall of the refrigerator in a spot that is immediately visible. Check the vial at times to make sure the ink is still readable and that the information is up-to-date.

Police and fire departments have recommended this procedure, along with ambulance personnel, because it is instantly located. Those who don't have a vial should have a listing of important phone numbers, such as police, fire, ambulances. Those who live alone should have some friend or relative call daily to check on them. Anyone interested in this service should call 851-7090 or 851-4294 for further information.

Architectural barriers survey

A new project, the Architectural barriers survey, has been undertaken by the Easter Seal Society to help make public facilities like shopping centers more accessible to the handicapped.

The survey is being conducted in the 12 cities and towns served by CETA, the funding agency for the project. These include Burlington, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Wilmington, Winchester and Woburn.

Types of buildings being surveyed include city halls, police stations, schools, libraries, voting places, shopping centers, department stores, drug stores, beauty parlors and office buildings and parking lots.

"Our aim is to make as many buildings as possible barrier free," said Jacob Sholder, area supervisor for the project.

To help make this goal a reality the Architectural Barriers Survey has recently opened an office in the Malden Government Center. It maintains a staff of 12 surveyors to do the actual field work.

Among these are Don G. Booth of Stoneham, Glen Chesbrough of Woburn, Gordon Daniels of Reading, John R. Madden, Louis Stifano and Lois Werlan of Medford, Lorraine Magnuson and Ruth M. Norton of Melrose, Grace Oldham, Nancy Proulx and Richard Stelmach of Malden and James Lindsey of Winchester.

Surveys of public buildings will be done upon request and a copy of the survey results will be provided to the owners at no charge.

The office also has a list of signs to reserve parking spaces for handicapped workers. These may be purchased from the Massachusetts Department of Transportation.

CARD OF THANKS
We would like to extend our most sincere thanks to the members of the Wilmington Fire and Police Departments for their efforts on behalf of our child. We would also like to thank our friends for the many acts of kindness during our time of sorrow.

When buying or selling a home, remember, Realscope gets results.

A HOUSE HAS MORE THAN ONE FEATURE. WHY SHOULDN'T THERE BE MORE THAN ONE PHOTOGRAPH?

You've seen the lonely little dark photo of houses which is so often used with a listing.

At Realty World we photograph a house eight times — inside and outside — to show all its points of beauty and value. IN LIVING COLOR!

These eight photographs are mounted together to form what we call RealScope.

IF YOU'RE A BUYER YOU'LL LIKE REALSCOPE

Instead of driving from house to house, you make a preliminary screening using the RealScopes on display in our office. You can even do this at night.

You can even do it at home. If you like, we'll bring a selection of RealScopes right to your home. You can do your own preliminary shopping in the comfort of your own livingroom.

SELLERS LIKE REALSCOPE BECAUSE...

A small photograph with a written description can never convey the true Character of your house. RealScope presents your house in depth, shows its character and beauty. Your chance of catching the interest of a buyer is far greater.

REMEMBER, ONLY REALTY WORLD GIVES YOU REALSCOPE.

REALTY WORLD

"OUR WORLD REVOLVES

Rehearse 'Pushcarts'

Several Wilmington teachers and school department employees have been putting in long hours these days.

Besides the usual reading, writing and correcting of papers these dedicated individuals have set aside several hours each week to rehearse for their April 27, 28 and 29 production, "Pushcarts."

It is to be a benefit performance with all proceeds to go to the Wilmington Teachers Association Scholarship Fund.

"Pushcarts," an original musical comedy written by Dom DeGrazia and Lorraine Kalil of the music department, is a nostalgic look backward in time to the unspoiled city neighborhood of the 1930s.

Bob Boucher, sixth grade teacher at the Woburn Street School, will portray the character of Pete LaMonte. Boucher is a graduate of Fitchburg State College. He has appeared in the musical "Oliver" in the role of Fagin.

Thorpe

Woburn Street School Reading Specialist Lynne Thorpe has won the role of Minska Kakovitch in the forthcoming production. A graduate of Boston University, she is currently enrolled at B.U. as a doctoral student.

Tickets for the show are now on sale at any of the Wilmington public schools. Or they may be purchased by mailing a check made payable to the WTA Scholarship Fund to: Miss Lorraine Kalil, Swain School, Middlesex Avenue, Wilmington Ma. 01887.

Spotlighters hold tryouts for 'Hello Dolly'

The Wilmington Spotlighters have announced that open tryouts will be held this week for their June production of the much-loved musical comedy, "Hello Dolly."

Tryouts for actors, singers and dancers will be held on Sunday, Mar. 19 from 5 to 9 p.m. and Monday, Mar. 20 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Spotlighters' rehearsal room in the Mildred Rogers School near Silver Lake.

Norm DeMarais, the show's director, suggests that candidates be prepared to read and/or sing and adds that anyone unfamiliar with the show's score could take along their own music.

DeMarais is well known for his theatrical activities in the area. The founder of the Tewksbury Teen Theater has most recently been involved in a production of "My Fair Lady" which will be presented the first week in April at Notre Dame Academy in Tyngsboro.

He said the rehearsal schedule for "Dolly" will occupy three nights per week beginning right after Easter. Performance dates are slated for June 9 and 10.

The choreographer for the show is Pam Dunning of Reading. Sue Aruda is musical director for the show and choral director is Carol Prasad.

The Spotlighters are especially in need of a rehearsal pianist at this time. Also needed are backstage people for publicity, lights, costumes, props, etc.

Colorful carnations and snapdragons adorned the altar of Wilmington's United Methodist Church for the February 4 wedding of Dianne Lee Paulsen, daughter of Mary and Stuart Paulsen of Church Street, Wilmington and Michael E. DiGregorio, son of Alba and Ernest DiGregorio of Parker Street.

The Rev. Richard Evans and Father Francis Mackin joined in performing the two o'clock ecumenical ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a custom made gown featuring re-embroidered Alencon lace and organza with Queen Anne neckline and fitted bodice with sheer, English net sleeve applied with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of red baby roses with pink carnations and babies breath.

Donna Paulsen of Church Street, Wilmington served her twin sister as maid-of-honor in a gown of gray featuring an empire waistline.

Rhonda DiGregorio, sister of the groom; Brenda Littlefield of Lowell and Mary Rock and Barbara Sousa of Tewksbury acted as bridesmaids. Their gowns were of ruby red and they carried pink and white carnations with baby's breath. Twin brother Louie DiGregorio served his brother as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Harry Landers, Joe Woods, John Rock and Ray Sousa.

The mother of the bride chose a pink gown featuring a ruffled neckline and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. DiGregorio was attired in a blue gown with a long, matching coat and a corsage of yellow roses.

For traveling, the new Mrs. DiGregorio wore a three-piece pants suit with matching plazer jacket and pants and a striped vest all of which she fashioned herself.

Diamonds, Bullets cop senior titles

Anything can happen in the playoffs as proven by both the Diamonds and Bullets. The two teams emerged as champions in the Senior Division of the WRBL after last week's heated WRBL playoff action.

The Diamonds copped the crown with a 50-31 win in the finals over the previously unbeaten Crystals.

In the boys loop the Bullets blew open a 32-32 tie after three quarters to rout the Knicks 48-35.

The week:

Spring fever.

Spring fever usually coincides with the start of the baseball season and Wilmington High baseball coach Jim Gillis said that he expects Tewksbury, Methuen, and Chelmsford to be the top clubs with his Wildcats and Andover the darkhorse candidates in the MVC race. Wilmington copped the crown along with an Eastern Mass title last spring after just edging out John Perreault's Redmen.

Gillis wouldn't give Perreault fuel for any pre-season fire, but he did say that the Redmen have some top players returning (you ain't kidding, Jimmy) that should make them the pre-season favorites. "I'll say this though, chuckles Gillis, we'll split with them." Last year the Cats took two games from Tewksbury - the second win coming on the final day of the season when Jim Stewart (now at Tufts University) chucked a no-hitter to give WHS the MVC championship.

Gillis and his team appear to be popular after last spring's Eastern Mass. title. Fifty-five boys are out for this year's club - 30 of them sophomores. My how a championship works wonders for a program.

Uncommon rules explained

by Dave Magee

Some rules in basketball are not common knowledge to many basketball fans. As a result, when a particular play occurs, the crowd will respond vocally in reaction to a call of a non-call when they do not fully understand the play. The two violations involving a kicked ball and traveling are in this category. Let's see if you fall into the "average fan" category.

1. A player of the 'A' team, while on defense, kicks the ball during a bounce pass. Is this a violation?
2. While dribbling the ball, the dribbler bounces the ball off his own foot and regains possession. Is this a violation?
3. A player attempting a pass to a team-mate strikes a defensive player, with the ball, on the leg above the knee. The defensive team gains possession. How do you rule?

4. While chasing a loose ball a player accidentally kicks the ball and then gains possession. Is this a kicked ball violation?
5. During a side-line in-bounds play the defensive player guarding the player who is making the throw-in, raises his leg and tips the pass-in with his foot. The ball is deflected to his team-mate. Is this legal?

6. A player on the 'A' team gains control of a loose ball while on the floor and then rolls or slides after which he passes the ball to another 'A' team player before getting to his feet. There were no opponents in the vicinity at the time. Is this a traveling violation?

7. While driving toward the basket, the player receives the ball while in a long stride. He lands on one foot, takes a long step with the other, then rises in a long distance reach for the goal. Twelve to fifteen feet are covered in the entire movement. Has he traveled?

8. Team 'A' player establishes the right foot as the pivot and then pivots forward on it. While attempting to make a jump shot try, he moves the right foot over near the left foot and places it on the floor in preparation for the shot. Is this legal?

9. A player catches the ball while he is in the air and both feet are off the floor. He lands on both feet simultaneously. Which foot can he establish as the pivot without traveling?

Answers

1. Yes - offensive team is awarded possession
2. No
3. Legal - No call is made.
4. No
5. No - This is a kicked ball violation.

Comments:
Kicking the ball is a violation only when it is a positive act. Accidentally striking the ball with the foot or leg is not a violation. Kicking the ball is striking it intentionally with the foot, the knee, or any part of the leg below the knee.

Answers

6. No
7. No
8. No - once he has established the pivot foot he cannot change.

Comments:

The rule book has one and one-half pages describing the traveling violation and the basketball case book illustrates over a dozen traveling situations. The complexities of the traveling violation include the establishment of the pivot foot, whether the player was in motion when he gained possession of the ball, how he lands on the floor, and with which foot. Technically running with the ball (traveling) is moving a foot or feet in any direction in excess of prescribed limits while holding the ball.

High school and sandlot basketball players are getting bigger, stronger and quicker. It is now more likely that you will see basket interference and/or goaltending in ballgames other than the N.B.A. Let's see if you know the difference between the two.

1. The ball is on the rim of the basket of team "A" when player on "A" team hits the net. What's the ruling?

2. Player of "B" team makes a try for his basket. The ball, on its downward flight to the basket is slapped away by a player of "A" team. Is this goal tending?

3. A try for the basket strikes the rim and bounces straight above the rim. While the ball is in the "invisible" cylinder above the rim a player touches the rim. Is this basket interference?

4. Same situation as in (1) except a player on "B" team hits the net.

Answers

1. Basket interference - no basket, the ball is awarded to team "B" out of bounds.
2. Yes - basket is good.
3. No
4. Basket interference - basket is good.

"Goal tending" is touching the ball during a field goal try while it is in its downward flight above the basket ring level and has the possibility of entering the basket in flight.

"Basket interference" is touching the ball or basket when the ball is on or within the basket.

"Basket interference" is also touching the ball when it is touching the cylinder above the basket ring.

Note that basket interference occurs when the basket is touched only when the ball is on or within the basket.

Bantam B's set for busy weekend

Wilmington's Bantam B Youth Hockey club will carry a 23-2-0 Wilmington League record into a busy weekend of play in the Bantam B tournament to be played at the Orchard Hills Rink in Leominster and the Fitchburg Civil Center.

The B's will battle Burlington in a 6:15 face-off at Leominster Friday night before coming back Saturday morning at 9:45 with a game against Winthrop at the Civic Center. Coach Joe Duggan's boys get a brief breather before taking on Foxboro at 3:15 p.m. at the Orchard Hills Rink. The semi-finals and finals of the tournament will be played Sunday at the Civic Center.

Wilmington prepped for its tourney appearance with a 6-4 conquest of Medford at the WYIA Saturday afternoon. The come-from-behind win got in gear after Medford had taken a 4-2 lead with goals at 7:52 and 7:39 of the third period. With 47 seconds left to play John Cushing capped the Wilmington comeback with a goal assisted by Darryl MacDonald. Brian McLean had cut the Medford lead to 4-3 with a goal at 7:15 before Chuck McNeil knotted the score at the 5:56 mark with help from Frank Newark and Mark Deyab.

McLean pocketed the insurance score with 11 seconds left as Deyab picked up his second assist of the game. Goaltender Scott Campbell was tough in nets for the winners as the Medford attack got untracked after a slow start in the first period.

The B's were off and skating hard from the outset as they took a 2-0 first period lead on a pair of MacDonald goals. The lamp lighters at 9:34 and 7:29 of the first frame were assisted by McLean and Cushing. Medford made up ground in a hurry in the second period to tie at 2-2 as Campbell was tough despite the onslaught that produced goals at 8:19 and 4:51. The visitors kept the momentum going early in the third period before Wilmington made the big push for win number 23.

Squirt B's nip Billerica
The Wilmington Squirt B's dug long and hard for a 2-1 win last week over Billerica. Jay McFadyen scored the game winner with help from Ralph Newhouse and Sean Brennan who hustled into the corner to dig the puck out before moving it out front to McFadyen.

Wilmington came back from a 1-0 deficit when Mark Bere scored assisted by Brennan and McFadyen. The win was triggered by the defense led by Ron Longo.

In a sluggish outing earlier in the week Newton tied Wilmington 1-1 with Brennan scoring in the third period to put his team ahead temporarily. Newton came back to score quickly as the Squirts maintained their second place position in the Middlesex Youth Hockey League.

Wilmington got the week off to a fair start when a battle with a bigger Methuen team ended in a 2-2 tie. Dave Needham put the Squirts ahead with the assists going to Bere and McFadyen. McFadyen put his club ahead early in the third period with Newhouse and Needham getting the assists. Methuen escaped with the tie on a goal late in the third period.

Squirt A's top Westford, Malden
The Squirt A's continued their fine play of late with wins over Westford and Malden last week. Sunday the team capped a perfect week with a 2-0 whitewashing of Malden as Robbie Palmer broke a 0-0 standoff with a goal at the 7:14 mark of period three. Bill Woods and Dave Fuller had the assists on the game winner. Less than a minute later Dave Fuller wrapped the game up for Wilmington with his 20th goal of the season. The unassisted score gave the winners a 2-0 cushion as they recorded the win with a 23-8 shots on goal margin.

In the week's first game Dave Buzzell showcased his skating prowess with a pair of goals as the Squirts topped Westford 3-1. Buzzell got his team untracked in the first period as they were trailing 1-0 at the 2:13 mark. He beat a Westford defender to a loose puck at center ice and turned on the afterburners for a rush that resulted in a 1-1 tie.

Buzzell gave a repeat performance midway through the second period as he scored with another rush that was helped out this time by wings Don Constantino and Sean Brennan. Mike Newhouse put Westford away with an unassisted goal in the third period, Melrose, East Boston Bantam A victims.

Wins over Melrose and East Boston last week upped the Wilmington Bantam A record to 21-20-6. The team got over the .500 mark Saturday with a 5-2 conquest of East Boston as Rick Zambarnardi triggered an early surge that gave his club a 3-0 lead in the second period.

Zambarnardi got the winners on the board at 10:51 of the first period assisted by Mike Stokes and John Murphy before Joby Duggan scored later in the period with help from Keith Ford and Bob Lowney.

Zambarnardi upped the lead to 3-0 with an assist from Stokes in the second period. East Boston battled back with two goals over a 40 second span in the middle period before Lowney countered with his second goal of the game to give Wilmington a 4-2 cushion.

Ford, who had an assist on Lowney's second goal, came up with the fifth score of the game as he was assisted by Mike Crimmins with 46 seconds left to play. Jeff Lux played a fine game in goal with 14 stops on 16 East Boston shots.

The Bantam's started the week with 7-4 win over Melrose last Thursday night as Stokes was the offensive leader with a goal and three assists. Zambarnardi kept the offensive fires burning for the winners with three goals for the hat trick while Walter Surrence had a goal to go along with an assist. Lowney and Don Foley had the other Wilmington goals.

Donny Josephson had three Wilmington assists with Murphy and Ford picking up a helper apiece. Crimmins had a solo assist for the winners. The A's scored three goals in period two and two in period three after breaking a 2-2 first period tie.

Adult Hockey playoffs

Canteen, Cain win openers

The WAHL began its playoff schedule Sunday, March 12, with the second place Leo's Canteen squaring off against the third place Bulldogs in the lid lifter, and in the second game, the regular season champion Bucko's facing the fourth place Fred F. Cain team.

The six-game playoff series will be a round-robin with each team battling the others twice. The championship will be won by the team having the most playoff points. In case of a tie, there will be a one-game playoff. All games will be at the Youth Ice Arena in Wilmington on Sunday and Wednesday nights at 8:00 and 9:00 p.m.

Leo's Canteen 5-Bulldogs 4

Leo's jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead after the first period on a pair of Steve Dunlevy unassisted tallies. Bill McLaughlin scored the first Bulldog goal on an unassisted shorthanded tally followed by Bob Coste's goal to deadlock the score at two.

John Davis and Alan Dunlevy gave Leo's another two-goal lead, and John Kalkanajian brought the Bulldogs within one midway through the third period. Davis, the regular season scoring champ scored what proved to be the game winner just ahead of Kevin Giles' artistic rink-length rush to an unassisted Bulldog tally.

Leo O'Connell had a spectacular night in the nets for the Canteenmen, most notable during a 90 second, two-man, shorthanded situation in the second period, and throttled a Bulldog breakaway in the closing seconds.

Fred F. Cain 4-Bucko's 3

After the smoke had cleared in the Leo's-Bulldogs game, the Canteenmen and Bucko's took over where they left off to trade scores through regulation time and into sudden death overtime.

Dave Irwin started the scoring in the first period for Cain's, followed by a Ken DeMaggio goal to tie it for the Bucko's. Snooky Lynch gave the Canteenmen a one-goal advantage to close out the period.

It was all Bucko's in the second period as Russ Myers, the runner-up for the scoring title, pumped in a pair of scores to give the Bucko's the lead after two periods. Snooky Lynch found the range for his second score to open the third period, and both goalies, Roy Anderson (B) and Tony Rosatti (C), took over as they both made excellent saves to force the game into overtime. Wally Newell was the hero for Cain's as he picked up a second rebound to beat hardluck goalie Anderson with a power play score to give the Canteenmen a big upset over the league champs.

South Stars top North 4-3

Local players Paul Ryan, John Caruso, Bob Greenberg, Ken Morse, Jim Dellarocco and Joe Iozzo were members of the North squad that dropped a 4-3 overtime decision to the South team in the Sixth Annual Commonwealth Athletic Conference All-Star game played at the Billerica Forum Sunday night. The local stars attend Shawsheen Tech and played on the Ram hockey team that finished on top in the CAC with a perfect 18-0-0 mark.

Iozzo started in goal for the North Stars and was nursing a 1-0 lead in the second period when Lynn Tech's Steve Flynn scored at 6:20 for a 1-1 tie. Ryan gave the North a 2-1 edge at the 10:06 mark of the period when he drove home a shot from the point with help from conference Co-MVP Morse (he shared the honor with Flynn) and Steve Michaud.

Lynn Tech's Joe O'Donnell tied the score for the South at 2-2 when he converted a shot with assists from Flynn and Lynn Tech's John Cipriani, who later scored the game winner with 1:20 left to play.

Lowell High's Mike Reilly gave the North its last lead when he scored to make the score 3-2 at 7:38 of the third period. Mike Cobleigh and Tom MacLeod had the assists on the North's last score.

The South battled back for a 3-3 tie as Tom McTaggart scored at 10:18 of the third period with help from Northeast Regional teammate Don Ellis. Cipriani gave the South squad the win when he took a pass off the faceoff and beat Lawrence Voke netminder Kevin Higginbottom, who split the cage duties with the junior Iozzo. Flynn and McTaggart had the helpers on Cipriani's game winner.

The North All-Stars hold a 4-2 edge in the series. The North team was made up of players from Shawsheen Tech, Tyngsboro, Lowell High, Lawrence Voke and Whittier Tech while the South squad had players from Minuteman Voke, Northeast Regional, Somerville Trade, Rockport and Lynn Tech.

The Tambone Corporation, owner-developer of Wilmington Industrial Park, held groundbreaking ceremonies recently for a 40,000 square foot multitenant building on a four-acre site off Cornell Place. The site is near the end of Fordham Road, off Concord Street.

Robert F. Tambone, director of commercial-industrial development for the family corporation, noted that the firm recently completed leasing of a 20,000 square foot building at 44 Concord St. constructed within the past several months. The lessees included M.W. Carr & Co., Inc., a manufacturer of picture frames; Graphic Date Associates, specialists in advertising graphics and computer designs; and K-2 Corp., ski equipment distributors.

He said considerable interest has already been shown in leasing space in the new building which is expected to be completed by June, according to the general contractor, Mansco, Inc., of Woburn.

The Tambone Corporation also plans to begin construction of a 60,000 square foot multitenant building on the last remaining site to be developed in the 185-acre Wilmington Industrial Park.

Some major tenants already located in the Park include: Volkswagen, Compugraphic, General Electric, Converse Rubber, Dynamics Research, and Datametrics.

The Garden of Eden Country Club

Down from the State of Maine, in the 1930s came Millard and Ruby Pipes. They had had experience in farming, and in Wilmington they found an abandoned farm, which they bought in a tax sale.

That was the old Bell farm. It went back into antiquity. The Bell family were really Burlington people instead of Wilmington people, and the farm which the Pipes family bought is not too far from the Burlington line.

Millard and Ruby, and their two sons started a dairy farm, and did a little farming too, on the side. The farm, the dairy business, that is, prospered, and Bell Farm milk was sold on milk routes that extended for some miles around.

But, in the changes that occurred after World War II the business of delivering milk was one that did not prosper. It was too easy to buy milk from Vermont farms in the supermarkets - and of course gasoline was cheap so everyone went to supermarkets.

Millard Pipes, in the early 1950s, determined to start a country club, on a part of his farm. The country club would be on the westerly side of Chestnut Street. If it prospered, then in time the part of the farm on the easterly side could also be made into a golf club.

But, for a starter, it could be a nine hole golf club.

Millard could probably be classified, as a "Yankee." He had a neighbor who so classified him - except that he called Millard a "Swamp Yankee," especially in the annual sessions of the town meeting. The neighbor was quite an orator. Millard was not.

If the neighbor had called Millard a "prudent Yankee" he would have made a better description. Millard was aware of the hazards of starting a country club.

"Every Country Club" Millard said "went through three bankruptcies before it finally got on its feet."

"This one is not going to." Millard sold memberships in the club, and started developing the land to the west of Chestnut Street. It was a rolling country, with granolithic hills, and a stream coming out of a cliff in the hills - Mill Brook. There were a few magnificent trees, birch and others.

Millard prudently made a seven hole golf course on the land set aside for the club, and two other holes, the seventh and eighth, were on a part of the farm that extended up toward Mill Road. He kept two holes for himself.

Prudently, too, he did much of the work of developing the golf club. No hiring of equipment, and operators. No throwing around the money of the club.

That stream - Mill Brook, was a part of the lore of early Wilmington and early Burlington, and even before that, early Woburn. The Town Crier had been writing of that place, which one inhabitant called The Garden of Eden. Millard named the golf course The Garden of Eden, Inc. One of the greens, number four, overlooked the brook, from on top of a magnificent cliff. It was truly a romantic spot.

For some years Millard worked alone. The dues from the membership went to such things as paying taxes, and buying supplies. Millard did the hard work. He had no intention of having the club go into bankruptcy.

The membership expanded, and there came a day, in November, when there was a demand for further and more action, and getting the club finished. There was an angry meeting, or so it is said. Anyway, suddenly, Millard Pipes was outside, looking in, and other men were in control of The Garden of Eden Country Club, Inc.

Work proceeded more rapidly, then. The members went to a bank and borrowed money, and proceeded with the construction of a club house.

There would be quite a crowd, on a Sunday, playing golf on those nine holes. Hardly anyone realized that two of them belonged, not to the Garden of Eden Golf Club, but to that old Swamp Yankee, Millard Pipes, now retired and living in Florida.

One thing to which some of the members objected was the name. They changed it, on their caps, to Eden Country Club. The sign, too, on Chestnut Street, was changed.

There came a day, a couple of years ago, when it was suddenly realized that the Eden Country Club was only a seven hole club. Millard Pipes, down in Florida, owned the fairways and greens for seven and eight. And he was about to sell!

The Jackson Brothers, of Wilmington, bought that land, and constructed about 10 homes along Chestnut Street. The Eden Country Club rearranged its course, and somehow got in two more holes.

Meanwhile revenues kept on dropping, and costs kept on mounting.

The early remarks of Millard Pipes, about bankruptcy, seemed to be coming true.

Somehow, it is not clear, but perhaps it came from a selectman, there was an article in the town meeting for the spring of 1978 for the town to purchase a golf club, down off Chestnut Street. And somehow, this time, it reverted to its old name - The Garden of Eden Country Club.

People who lived in the area did not want to have it converted into a housing development. There was quite a bit of sentiment for lovely green lawns. They began to assemble facts and figures.

Article 22 in the town meeting, last Saturday, was the article. John Heine of Chestnut Street presented the arguments.

Many in the town meeting knew that the Jackson Brothers did not consider the land worthwhile for a housing development. Mr. Heine said that a Woburn firm was ready to buy it, for $125,000.

His arguments fell on deaf ears. The town refused to spend $150,000.

Monday morning, two days after the town meeting, the Central Cooperative Bank of Somerville served notice. It is preparing to take over the Garden of Eden Country Club, Inc. for failure to make payments on the mortgage.

Gym show a big hit

Three hundred parents, sisters, brothers, friends crowded all four sides of the Shawheen School gymnasium last Wednesday evening. Latecomers peered in at doorways. There wasn't a spare seat to be found.

Suddenly the foot tapping, fidgeting crowd quieted. To the "Theme from Rocky," 75 beaming fourth grade boys and girls marched in formation across the polished wooden floor.

The Shawheen School gymnastics show, a first for the Wilmington School Department, had begun.

With a one, two three...four rows of youngsters executed warm-up exercises in near perfect unison guided by Shawheen School Gymnastics Instructor Ed Woods. Each child wore a tee shirt with his name colorfully emblazoned across front and back.

Toe touches, leg lifts, jumping jacks, forward rolls, pinwheels, cartwheels.

One member of the audience whispered, "I hope they don't ask the parents to get up and try that."

At the conclusion of the gymnastics portion of the program, several smaller groups of students demonstrated various feats of skill.

Lisa Fougere and Paula DiPalma did a fancy stepping, rope skipping duet. Twelve agile young Tarzans Janes climbed to the ceiling on knotted ropes. Michael Mack and Brad Halliday climbed 15 feet up the wall, using only their arms and two wooden pegs each of which were placed into higher and higher holes on the peg board.

There were demonstrations on the gym horse and a 41 man three-tier human pyramid. All 75 of the youngsters showed prowess at handling a complicated obstacle course.

The third part of the gym program featured a demonstration of several rambunctious dances, the Ally Cat, the Mexican hat dance and, for the grand finale with parents joining in, the bunny hop.

In a recent interview, Woods told the Town Crier that the idea of a gym show first came to him two years ago as an ideal way for parents to see a smattering of what their children learn in physical education classes.

"Everybody's thinking fitness now," he said. "Today's children are more physically fit because they have more exposure to physical training."

Woods said the show went from the planning stage to the implementation stage this past October.

He praised as outstanding the efforts of fourth grade teachers Sandra Tammaro, Maureen Bedger and Pat Souza who helped to coordinate the event and who created the tee shirts worn by the youngsters.

Woods also expressed his appreciation for the willing cooperation of the school administration.

Assistant Principal Doug Anderson served as a "spotter," or floor assistant, for the evening, as did Kenneth Tammaro and teacher Tom Mirasola.

Media Center Specialist Linda Friel and sixth grade teacher Ruby St. Clair handled the audio visual end of the program, providing music for the gym routines and video taping the entire production so the children could later critique themselves on a closed circuit t.v.

Woods offered special thanks to his seven-man crew of roustabout equipment handlers. The sixth grade boys included: Gerald Sullivan, James Cheney, John Pelletier, Chris Witkowski, Donald Finney, Charles Peters and James Newhouse.

Woods said he was pleased by the success of the show and encouraged by the enthusiasm of the children who participated.

"The kids accomplished a lot," he said "some doing things they had never been able to master before." He added that no matter how difficult an activity is, however, his first emphasis is always on safety.

She flies through the air

Marty Kuchler completes a somersault vault over the horse, with a little help from gym teacher Ed Woods. Tom Mirasola was also spotting the exercise. Watching from the sidelines at right are Mark Colburn, Rusty DePasquale and Brad Halliday, nervously awaiting their turns.

Remember this one?

It's the Mexican hat dance, skillfully performed by fourth graders of the Shawheen School.

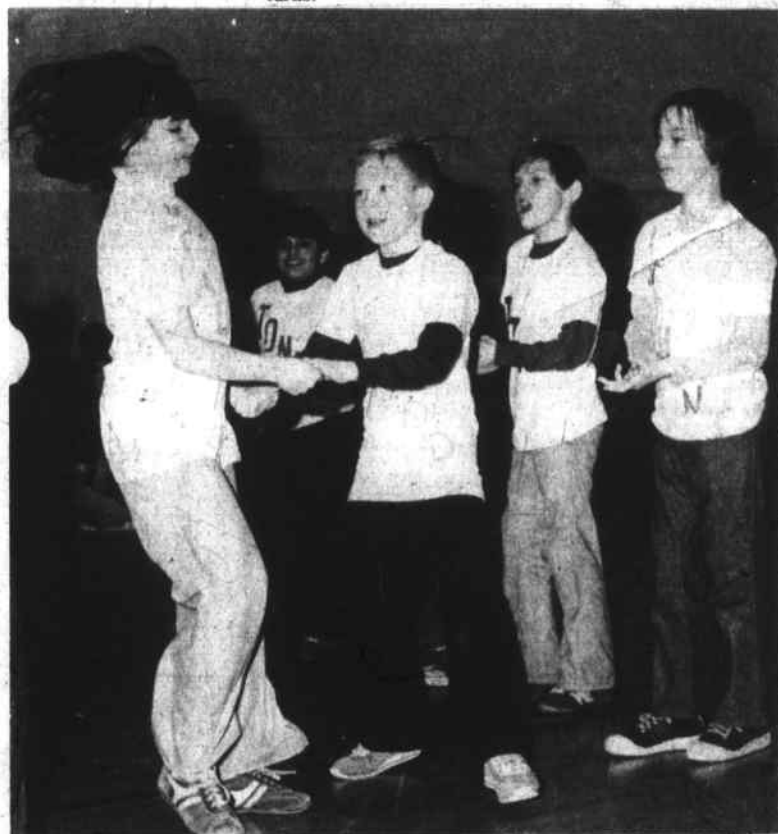

Doug Clark has no problem walking the "board walk." Spotting him on the balance beam is Donald Finney.
